Subject: RE: New movie on homelessness--"Time Out of Mind"

Friends, a new movie about homelessness starring Richard Gere and a great supporting cast (Buscemi, Vereen, Sedgewick) called "Time Out of Mind" is coming to theaters Sept 11, specifically The Landmark in West LA (Westside Pavillion), and it opens in Pasadena at Playhouse 7 on 9/18.

I attended a screening of the film, and I was overwhelmed. I think it is a work of genius. No judgment, no solutions, no preaching-just "three (or so) days in the life" of a homeless man in New York, from the perspective of an observer (lots of shots thru windows, in reflection, etc.), with great portrayals of those trying to help in various capacities, and those affected-the film just moves you by showing a slice of a hard life.

I sincerely think you will love this movie, be moved by it, think about it a lot after, and find it inspiring. I encourage you to attend, you will not be disappointed.

Just had to share with you!
